BDA Southern Counties Branch Presidential Meeting and Dinner 2018

IN OR OUT? A DENTIST'S DILEMMA

Friday 20 April 2018

The Grand Hotel, Brighton

Dev Patel, President-elect, BDA Southern Counties Branch 2018

I would be delighted to welcome you to Brighton for the 2018 Southern Counties Branch annual presidential meeting and dinner.

The theme of the main conference programme focuses on the dilemma dentists' face in determining when to save or extract teeth. With a strong emphasis on case presentation and discussion, the factors that affect decision making will be considered.

During the course of the day we will:

- Assess the prognosis of teeth in relation to endodontic, periodontic and prosthodontic factors
- Review treatment strategies to improve prognosis of teeth
- Consider predictability and cost effectiveness when deciding to save or extract teeth
- Engage in interactive debate with case discussions.

Running alongside the main clinical programme, is a stream of lectures dedicated to core CPD topics. The event provides a great opportunity for dental care professionals to update their understanding of record keeping and infection control requirements and procedures. Whilst receiving advice on how to improve the patient journey, provide outstanding customer care and handle difficult patients.

The Gala dinner on Friday evening is an opportunity to continue conversations with friends old and new, whilst enjoying a fantastic venue. The Grand is one of Brighton's most treasured icons with a well-known and storied history. A recent multimillion pound restoration has seen the hotel returned to its former glory and re-established as one of the landmark destinations on Brighton's famous seafront.
